Message from the Minister of Health
Canada India Network Society (CINS)
2018 Annual Conference
June 8-11, 2018

As Minister of Health, I am pleased to welcome you to the Canada India Networking Initiative (CINI) 2018 conference.

This conference, which brings together leaders from business, industry, academia, government and other communities, provides an excellent opportunity to advance collaboration and increase linkages between our two countries.

Your agenda—which includes topics such as chronic disease, mental health and addiction, palliative care, and the role of technology in health care—speaks to some of the most pressing issues for the health sector.

I trust that you will all have excellent opportunities to discuss these priorities and to make connections that will promote continued innovation in health care delivery, both in Canada and India.

I would like to thank the Canada India Network Society and co-hosts Simon Fraser University and Fraser Health for organizing this event. I wish you all the best, and I hope you have a productive meeting.
