

A Message from Premier Christy Clark

As Premier of the Province of British Columbia, I'm very pleased to welcome everyone to the Canada India Network Society (CINS) 2014 Initiative in Surrey.

This important two day conference will further highlight the effective, collaborative relationship between B.C. and India in addressing South Asian health care needs and issues. It's a great opportunity to network and connect with opinion leaders bringing forward a diversity of perspectives and experiences, fostering innovation in matters relating to primary care, the role of alternate approaches to care, extended training policies and the effectiveness of social media.

I applaud the Fraser Health Authority for establishing the South Asian Health Institute and congratulate the CINS for their leadership. Your efforts and your commitment have helped to enhance our health care services and demonstrated that by working together in collaboration, we can be effective global leaders in health care.

Please accept my best wishes for a successful conference and thank you, once again, for your passion to connect the dots relating to health care research, knowledge and best practices.

Sincerely,
